If the injustices of the Luxembourg pension system are at the origin of the ADR (Alternativ Demokratesch Reformpartei - Reform Party of Democratic Alternative), this party which is situated on the right of the political spectrum sees its priorities in the fields of :

- family policy
- national education and integration, linked to the safeguarding of national identity,
- the migration crisis (controlled admission of protection seekers)
- social policy
- animal protection.

Other principles of the ADR are economic liberalism and Euro-scepticism.

The CSV (Chrëschtlech Sozial Vollekspartei - Christian Social People's Party) is based on the Christian view of the human person. Equality of human beings, free development of the personality, tolerance and solidarity are important values. This includes a commitment to the well-being of all people and a responsible commitment to life on the planet. The CSV

- defends the interests of the family as the basic unit of society,
- fights for an appropriate social state
- supports the European integration project
- aims at the development of a social and sustainable market economy.

The party dei gréng (the Greens) is an environmentalist party that advocates the principles of sustainability and balance between economy, social and ecology and aims at a stronger involvement of the population in political decisions. Its main values are :

- ecology,
- the exit of nuclear power and the protection of the climate,
- the equitable distribution of wealth,

- equality between women and men,
- non-violence
- tolerance.

For déi gréng, integration is a cross-cutting communal task in all areas of communal policy.

déi Lénk

The party Déi Lénk ("The Left") was founded in 1999 in response to the absence of a unified anti-capitalist left in Luxembourg. Its main values are freedom, equality and solidarity.

déi Lénk wants to :

- redistribute wealth and guarantee fair access to resources,
- fight against all forms of discrimination,
- strengthen social security and eradicate poverty,
- to launch a socio-ecological transformation of the society,
- consolidate democratic participation at all levels and guarantee the transparency of political decisions.

The Democratic Party was born after the Second World War and the struggle against oppression, totalitarianism and fascism. Its action is always oriented to the liberal values of freedom, tolerance and responsibility as guarantors of progress and solidarity:

- financial and natural resources to be consumed in a sustainable and responsible way
- a strong economy that encourages the creative forces of Luxembourg,
- free choice of life models,
- education as a guarantee for the independence of each individual and his self-determination.

Citizens' lists

In many municipalities between 3,000 and 5,000 inhabitants, which vote according to the proportional electoral system, there are also citizen lists, so lists that cannot be attached to a specific political party. These lists are often made up either of candidates who feel close to one party or another, but whose party has not been able to put together a complete list, or of candidates without a party.

The political orientation of the candidates can vary greatly. The electoral program of such a list can only be consulted locally, by approaching the different candidates, by consulting possible publications or by visiting a local electoral evening where the different lists and candidates present their priorities.
